Well House,

It looks like things are just about over, but thank goodness for memories, for we have them sure. I don't think we'll ever forget all the cruising - oh the miles! the day at the baseball game - "chicken?" our Monday night escapade-O-with Y-e + D-n - oh - Tuesday!

Then the mansion - sometime we'll get in that thing legally - with a key. By the way, we still have to go swimming there some night

Well, times running short, so best of everything to you in whatever you do, and always. Have a wonderful time at Allegany, and don't forget our weekends C-----E isn't to far away,

See ya' at the lake this summer,

Love ya' lots always,

Penny

Dear Cindy.

Well our highschool days are coming to a close but we sure have some swell memories. Remember our biology class, the bee's (buzzzzz!!), the time you stored my beverages when I came back from Marrisville, and all the swell times we've had!! It really is a shame it has to end so soon but we've had our share of good times thru school. It's been swell knowing you and you've been a terrific buddy. All I can say is the best of luck to a gal with a terrific personality - Be good, have fun next year but don't forget the class "hell raiser"!

Foreword

Another year has passed;
another milestone for the Class of 1957. Amid cherished memories and fond reminiscence we take a glance at the future: new challenges, new achievements, and new friendships to add to the old. In years to come, may this, "Our Auroran," always recall vividly our unforgettable yesterdays in East Aurora
High School.

DEDICATION

Best wishes!
Marion S. Peek

Mrs. Peek, we are grateful to have an opportunity in this book to express our genuine graditude for the many kindnesses you have shown us through our high school years.

As we leave East Aurora High in June of 1957 we may forget old acquaintances but each and every one of us will never forget you and the untiring patience and tolerance you have had with us.

The unanimous opinion of our class is that, "you're the greatest."

JRS

Elbert Hubbard

Elbert Hubbard was born on June 19, 1856, in Bloomington, Illinois. As a young man he was employed by the Larkin Company in Buffalo, New York. In 1883 he moved to East Aurora and a few years later, deciding not to remain with the company, he sold his interest in it.

In 1891, Hubbard started tramping through Europe. Meeting William Morris and visiting his Kelmscott Press in England, he was inspired to found a similar press, the Roycroft Press, at East Aurora, New York. Here he wrote in 1894 A Little Journey to the Home of George Eliot, the first of the famous Little Journey booklets, one of which was issued each month from his press for fifteen years thereafter. Hubbard began to write articles and mail them to magazine publishers who always rejected and returned them. He said they returned home like the cat. But because he believed them to be good enough for publication he began in 1894 to print the Philistine, an original magazine of pocket size, which was continued until his death for Hubbard's pen had supplied most of the contents. In an 1899 number was printed "A Message to Garcia," the most famous single piece that Hubbard wrote.

In our school library is a copy of Hubbard's first writing of the "Message to Garcia." The original is the prized possession of the Buffalo Public Library.

The Philistine received its name from the group of people mentioned in the book of Solomon in the Bible. They were rebellious, straight forward, and critical, exactly symbolizing Hubbard's policy.

In 1908 he began to edit and publish, The Fra, his second monthly magazine, which was continued until 1917. By this time his printing establishment had grown to large proportions. Besides his writings, it was publishing many artistic books, hand-illuminated and hand-bound. To the printing shop Hubbard added furniture and leathershops and a smithy. Painting, clay-moulding, and terracotta work were included and an art school was established. The Roycrofters were formed into a legal corporation in which only the workers held shares. The community and the Roycroft enterprises were continued by Hubbard's son, Elbert II.

Hubbard was both individualistic and communal; his writings contain a strong mixture of radicalism and conservatism. His constant theme was efficiency.

On May 7, 1915, he perished in the sinking of the "Lusitania" when it was torpedoed by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland.

Elbert Hubbard gave to the little country village of East Aurora world-wide fame. Great men and women came here from every point of the compass. It is fitting that we should recognize the rare ability of the man who put East Aurora on the map.

MR. WALTER BUMGARDNER

In choosing Elbert Hubbard as the theme for your yearbook, you have selected a man whose ideals of loyalty are unsurpassed.

In his "Message to Garcia" he emphasizes loyalty to country, your associates and to your employer. These ideals are just as important today as they were when they were written. Whatever you may choose for a career, be loyal to it and give it your very best. This is the only sure way to attain success.

May your aims in life be realized and all your dreams come true.

Donald Graves

Class of 1957:

Achievement is the goal you have set for yourselves. What kind of success do you seek? Are you aiming at uniqueness? Do you intend to use the high ideals of youth as your constant measure? Will you demand a level of living and working that represents your best as a person? As a citizen will you work for those things that make this a country and a world guided by truly religious standards? I believe you will try and in that earnest trying you will reach your goal.

I sincerely wish you a satisfying and productive future. God bless you all.

MR. THOMAS MOORE

MR. LEWIS MC NEIL

Congratulations to the graduates of the Class of '57 and best wishes for success, health and happiness.

Although your years at East Aurora High School have now come to an end, I hope they have been just the beginning of your never-ending search for truth, understanding and a life enriched by unselfish service to your fellowmen.

Thomas C. Moore

As I look over the past six years of your high school life, I am amazed, as I am every year, by the tremendous growth and maturity you have attained as seniors. Can you remember coming into seventh grade in September, 1951, a bunch of little "Eager-Beavers", and then recall how superior you felt last fall to the incoming seventh graders? Do you remember away back there, the Truman-MacArthur dispute? In the fall of 1952 you helped make your parents and friends aware of the election, and America turned out more voters, than at any other time in history. The Korean War ended. Warren was made Chief Justic. Churchhill retired; Stalin died. These are the events that have happened nationally and internationally while you have been in school.

In school, you have sometimes won and sometimes lost. You have made mistakes. You have been successful also. You will find out, beyond graduation, that life is just about the same as school. You will win sometimes; you will also lose, but the measure of success will be your reaction. If you keep your response as clear and unemotional as it has been during your high school career, you will be a credit to East Aurora and its founding fathers.

CLASS HISTORY

Now that our thirteen years of friendship and amicability have come to a pause, we, the Class of 1957, look back through the past to the beginning of our educational instruction.

During our first year of schooling we became acquainted with our teachers, Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Allen. Our naps became a daily ritual along with our exercises on the jungle gym. We all quivered with excitement when we celebrated our first Valentine's party with goodies furnished by our mothers.

Being promoted into first grade led us all into thinking that we were well on the way to being scholars. This was the first year that we had been separated into smaller rooms. To our amazement we found that we could print our names after much help from our patient teachers. The memory of fat green pencils and yellow paper will always be associated with our first printing attempts. We continued our napping periods and enjoyed music hour when we practiced rhythm with wooden sticks and triangles.

Our seed selling campaign of second grade earned us prestige toward being future salesmen. We began to thrill to the stories of the Dick and Jane series as our reading gained volume and variety. Yearly plays began to be a highlight in our rooms. One such as "Little Red Riding Hood", was presented in Mrs. Adam's room to the enthusiastic applause of all.

The highlight of our third year in elementary school was "Peter Rabbit", a puppet show, given by Miss Bush's room. Multiplication and division entered our young minds for the first time, and writing in longhand was practiced. Miss Steger helped us to design and paint murals for decoration in the halls while Mrs. Olive Whiting helped us to appreciate the world of music.

Our fourth grade proved to be completely filled with surprises and wonders. A new boy entered our class named Vitauts Alks, who had come to America from Latvia. How fascinating he was! Embarrassed Butchie Hanlon also entered the elementary school, later to be our President. This year was spent participating in everything from building bird houses to nature trips to the Sinking Pond with Mrs. Bartram. Many of us won prizes from the Buffalo Museum of Science on compositions about nature and her surroundings. Our social life showed a promising beginning that year.

Fifth grade opened with the presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" as the operetta in which many of us performed. Mr. Brown, our first male teacher proved to be a friend to all of us. Mrs. Boldt's pupils became experts in weaving rugs and the making of other handicraft. Clyde Glasser displayed his talents by playing his accordion in the play that Mrs. Bechtel's room presented. The students of this room also became more conscientious about their spelling when she began to give them African shells for perfect spelling tests. Many races between both sexes were seen in the cloak rooms during recess.

Sixth grade was the senior year of elementary school and we all felt very important. We now took part in the Service Club under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Whiting. During the activity we learned to accept responsibility and to be reliable. As in every year before, we completed our parents' Christmas presents, of wrapping paper made by stenciling. Many of us watched the MacArthur Homecoming at Miss Clark's home on her new television set. The highlight of the year came in June when we had Moving-Up Day. We all knew that soon we would be in Junior High School with all its glories.

As we entered seventh grade, we became acquainted with parliamentary procedure and elected Butch Hanlon the president of our class. We all took part in promoting the victory of Tim Donovan as Student Council President. The first event in which we were included was our roller skating party at Creekside. Most of the class continued their musical career and advanced to the seventh grade chorus under the able direction of Mr. Elwood Eaton. As is found in every grade in high school, HOMEWORK became the cry of complaint of all of us. The sophomores of East Aurora High School helped us tremendously by appearing in our homerooms and answering questions. Our general language course made known to us the romantic languages but later the majority continued their study of Latin. A field trip to Letchworth State Park was enjoyed by all during the fall. Points of historical interest were visited and the refreshment stands were well populated.

At the beginning of eighth grade Butch Hanlon was again elected as the president of the Class of 1957. We organized a committee to plan our closed dance. Balloon busting predominated as a popular game along with dancing and refreshments. Dick Whalen and Gail Young were crowned King and Queen and received candy and pearls respectively. Mr. McCready's science classes will always hold memories of . . . along with our excellent tests marks. The "Gettysburg Address" era in Mr. Millard Henry's room proved to be beneficial to all and especially to La Netta Brown who won the contest. Eighth period of that year in social studies proved to be quite a restful time! No one will ever forget Mr. Hickey and his takeoff on "Spaghetti Joe." Kay McKeeman and Kit Byrnes, "Southern Belle" and "Torchy" will never forget their nicknames, while the rest of us had to contend with the gavel. The cold wintry mornings in Mr. Drick's homeroom were certainly felt distinctly by those concerned. Our Christmas Operetta, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" was a great success and undertaking for us all. We were all surprised that we could make such a tremendous success on our own. A trip to Fort Niagara was the highlight of the year and the historic past was visited with great interest.

Ninth grade came quickly after the beginning of Junior High School and again we called ourselves seniors. Our title "Freshman" made us feel more a part of the student body. Many leaned toward scientific courses and took Earth Science. The trips to the graveyard and Sinking Ponds seemed exciting and adventurous to only one, but we learned a great deal about the world we live in. "Stairway to the Stars", our first open dance was held with Bob Rose and Cecyl Hildinger as King and Queen. As in the preceding years Butch Hanlon was elected president of our class. Mrs. Byrnes served as our wonderful advisor. No one will ever forget Mr. Henrici and his humor!! The Senior Choir presented "The Lowland Sea" as an operetta which held much sentiment and meaning.

Our sophomore year held many surprises in store. Denny French was elected president of the class. Our annual dance was entitled "White Christmas" and turned out to be a social but not a financial success. Bill Donovan and Sharon Zee reigned as King and Queen. Geometry was the most talked of course of the year. The familiar question of "what time does this period end" rang in all our hearts when asked by our wonderful teacher, Mr. Pfleeger. Frogs were dissected by all that took Biology and many happy hours were spent with Mr. Lawson. "Let Freedom Sing," a television production, was presented by the senior choir under the direction of Mr. Eaton. To the entire school's sorrow, our beloved Mr. Elwood Eaton left the halls of East Aurora High School, along with many of our classmates, to join Iroquois Central. Many packed in the Aurora Theatre to see William Shakespeare's immortal "Julius Caesar" that year. Our class was supervised by Mr. Shed during our Sophomore year.

The Junior Year opened with the election of Bill Donovan as our president. The Sadie Hawkins Dance was a financial sucess with Bob Rose as Little Abner and Helen Wells as Daisy Mae. Our other social engagement of the year was our wonderful "Junior-Senior Prom" over which Butch Hanlon and Barb Freeman reigned. As for scholastic work, seventeen of our classmates were installed into the Senior National Honor Society. Mr. Leland's jokes became a daily fad in American History along with the "sheets with the purple print"!! "Best Foot Forward" was the operetta presented with an extremely large cast on a very unusual stage. Our advisorship was doubled when Mr. Lawson and Mr. Shed were elected. Judy Reeves and John Minsker were elected to go abroad with the American Field Service and they went to Greece and Switzerland respectively.

Finally we have reached our twelfth year in school. Now we are at the end of our career. Butch Hanlon was elected as president for the fourth year. The magazine sale was a tremendous success with Judy Henry and Larry Howe as top salesmen. With 3x5 cards, football games, basketball dances, Thesis', Beowulf, and Trigonometry, we have had a fully packed year. Our class has felt privileged for having two wonderful exchange students at East Aurora High School this year, Nelly Beradi, of France, and Fridtjof Gorter of the Netherlands.

As the annals of our high school days close, and as we continue on the road of life, the future looks to us for the solution to world peace. We shall fulfill our obligation and establish this peace for all mankind if we have the faith and courage to search for the right road with mind and heart and soul.

Miss Dietrich served as our understanding and patient director. Miss Harp and her make-up staff ably turned the fifty-seven members of the cast into characters of various types and ages. The scenery was assembled by Mr. Norberg and his untiring staff. Mrs. Henry completed the picture with costumes of the 1890's. OUR THANKS:

The Class of 1957 yearbook staff would like to take this opportunity to express its thanks to Mr. Nisita, our advisor, whose help was invaluable in the production of the 1957 Auroran.

We are not the only class indebted to Mr. Nisita for his help, for he has been the yearbook advisor since 1943 when he also became senior advisor for the first time.

He has spent his entire teaching career in our East Aurora High School to our great benefit since 1933, and we echo his desire to spend his remaining years here before retirement.

Mr. Nisita is active in community art affairs and founded the Aurora Arts Club of which he is now honorary president. He is kept busy with the adult night classes and has taught the art classes at Gow School for the past 16 years. Directly or indirectly all scenery for assemblies, class plays and operettas are the result of the diligent work of Mr. Nisita and his students. Mr. Nisita's favorite hobby and cultural contribution to the community extends to Western New York in his participation of the Schola Cantorum of the Buffalo Museum of Science of which he has been president for the past five years.

We thank you, Mr. Nisita, for the help and inspiration you have given us throughout our high school years.
